

Zoom Rooms at IU South Bend

Schurz Library:

Students may reserve a zoom room for use in the library by using the reservation link below:

<https://libcal.iusb.edu/reserve/zoomrooms>

Each zoom room accommodates one student only and has a computer. In addition, there are a number of study rooms (again with occupancy for one student) that students can reserve for zooming if they have their own laptop.

Wiekamp Hall zoom rooms – first come, first serve

Room 1160                    Able to accommodate up to 8 students for zooming into a class

Room 1170                    Able to accommodate up to 8 students for zooming into a class

Education and Arts – first come, first serve

Room 2109                    Able to accommodate up to 6 students for zooming into a class

Room 2112                    Able to accommodate up to 4 students for zooming into a class

Northside – first come, first serve

Room 122                    Able to accommodate up to 8 students for zooming into a class

Room 09                    For single student use only

Room 111                    For single student use only

Room 223                    For single student use only

For students with laptops in search of a quiet space and good wireless

DW

Room 2105                    Wireless access point; no speakers

EA

Room 2101                    Education Lounge

All rooms listed above as zoom rooms in DW, EA, and NS can be used by students with laptops as well. In addition, note that campus has wireless throughout so students with laptops have plenty of quiet corners to zoom into a class.

Students using the classroom zoom rooms' computer equipment should call the helpdesk for assistance the first time they use the technology. This is especially recommended if students wish to use the projector and other technology. The number is listed above the phone found in each classroom.

Room occupancy limits must be observed (posted on every door) so as to ensure social distancing and a safe learning environment for everyone.
